PIKE COUNTY NEWS

(James L. Phelps, of Pikeville, is authorized to accept and receipt for subscriptions to the Big Sandy News.)

NEW ICE PLANT.

The ice plant which has supplied the city and neighboring towns during the warm weather has been found to be inadequate to supply the demand, and last week Huffman Bros. began to tear out the old two and one-half ton plant, which is located near their mill in South Pikeville, and a modern 15-ton plant is being installed in the place of it. This means that when ice time comes again, fifteen tons of ice per day will be manufactured to supply the demand.

The new plant arrived last Saturday.

RECORD-BREAKING ATTENDANCE.

The evangelistic meetings under the direction of Rev. W. J. Stith, of Ada, Ohio, were transferred last week from the First M. E. Church to the courthouse, because the church building was far too small to accommodate the unusual attendance. Perhaps the largest congregation that has listened to a sermon in Pikeville in many years heard the illustrated sermon of Dr. Stith in the court room last Sunday night. The great auditorium was packed to the limit, and a grand choir of fifty voices sang the hymns of worship as never before. The meetings have so far been a great success.

LIQUOR MEN WANT PIKE-CO. DIVIDED.

West Virginia becomes a dry state after July 1st, of this year, and the liquor interests of Williamson, W. Va., ever bent on the ruin of others, have fallen upon a unique plan to create for themselves a new territory in Kentucky where they may continue their business.

Last week a delegation of seven of the business men of Mingo-co. came to Pikeville to try to interest Pike-co. people in the idea of creating a new county out of the eastern portion of Pike-co. and locate a new county seat at the mouth of Pond creek, just across the Tug river from Williamson. Their reason given out for the new proposed county is that it will relieve those living on that side of the county from the hardship of coming to Pikeville to court, etc. But why are West Virginia business men so interested in the affairs of Kentucky people?

There is perhaps another reason that was not given out. If the new county seat of Julius, at the mouth of Pond creek would get the illustrated sermon of Dr. Stith in the court room last Sunday night. The great auditorium was packed to the limit, and a grand choir of fifty voices sang the hymns of worship as never before. The meetings have so far been a great success.

have an easy task to move their saloons over to the Kentucky side, vote the new county wet, and continue the West Virginia liquor business just the same as formerly. Much Pike-co. business would also flow to Williamson.

And this supplies a reason for a combination of liquor and real estate men invading another county of another state and seeking to have that county divided in halves for their especial benefit. To this end, an effort will be made at the present session of the Legislature to secure a division of Pike-co., but organized resistance will bitterly oppose it.

A public protest meeting was held in the court room Saturday afternoon, and several committees were organized, among them being a finance and publicity committee. This meeting was largely attended, and another session was held at six o'clock on the same evening, at which the former organization and appointment of committees were confirmed.

DR. CAMPBELL ACCIDENTALLY KILLED.

While riding through the Narrows just above town, last Friday at midnight, Dr. W. A. Campbell, a physician and surgeon well known throughout Eastern Kentucky, met an accidental death. He was on his way to visit the sick on Island creek and while it is not definitely known how the accident occurred, it is supposed that the horse which he was riding became frightened and plunged forward breaking the saddle girth. The riderless horse came into town about midnight, which was the first indication that something had gone amiss. A party of searchers went in search of him, and the dead body was found lying on the hillside, just a few feet above the railway tracks, some 50 feet below the road from where he had fallen. It was at first thought that the neck was broken, but a post mortem examination proved that such was not the case, and that the blow which crushed in the skull at the back of the head was the real cause of his death. He leaves a family.

The funeral and interment took place at the York farm, three miles south of Pikeville, Tuesday afternoon. The interment ceremony was conducted by the Order of Odd Fellows of which he was a member, and a large gathering from every side of the county, and from adjoining counties, took the last look upon the face of the great physician, whose name, especially in Pike-co., had for many years been a household word.

He leaves a wife and daughter to mourn for him.

COURT DATE CHANGED.

With the advent of the new year, Pikeville became a fourth class town, and Judge Robt. L. Miller of the Police Court announces that the date of the monthly term of his court is thereby changed from the second Monday in each month to the first Tuesday. The next term will accordingly begin on the first Tuesday in February. Over three hundred cases have been docketed for trial at this term.

WILL START NEW PAPER.

Pikeville's need for a live, reliable newspaper now seems certain to be supplied. Mr. Lewis Morse, a practical printer and newspaper man of Cincinnati, Ky., was here Monday, and he is quite well pleased with the situation and prospects for the future of a dependable newspaper. Mr. Morse has prepared to lease the old Kentuckian plant and begin operation right at once. He is not yet certain where he will locate the plant, but it is a certainty he means business, and will do his fair share to give to our city a new, clean, independent weekly paper.

RELIGIOUS MEN QUARREL.

An itinerant disciple of the House of David, Benton Harbor, Mich., came to Pikeville a week ago, and has held several meetings on the street, in which he promulgated the doctrine of eternal life in the flesh. To this no one paid any heed or took exception. But at his meeting Tuesday he was interrupted in his discourse by Prof. Winter, choir director of the revival now in progress at the court house. Several bystanders became annoyed at the brusque interruption, while others of the faith applauded. Angry men said, "let the stranger have a square deal," but the irate Winter belabored the stranger with scriptural quotations with the usual result, which afforded ample enjoyment to the multitude.

LETCHER COUNTY.

WHITESBURG, KY., Jan. 21.—The Letcher County Grand Jury, it is expected will be closed here tomorrow, one of the most important sessions in the county's history. At this session no less than seven murders were investigated, and six indictments for murder were returned, the largest number ever on the dock at before at one time in the history of Letcher. One of the cases fell before the grand jury, that of Blaine Collins policeman at McRoberts who killed, in self defense, James Turner in September when he went to arrest Turner. Judge Butler, however, is determined to try ever murder case on the docket and will continue court four weeks if necessary. Friday and Saturday were taken up in the trial of Arthur Roberts, who killed Wilson Sizemore his brother-in-law at Neon a month ago, and a verdict was reached late Saturday night: Roberts was found guilty of manslaughter and will get from two to twenty-one years in the Kentucky penitentiary. Other cases are to come up this week.

County Road Engineer I. N. Lewis returned from Lexington, where he completed a course in road engineering and resumed his duties on the new road between Mayking and Kona now being rapidly constructed.

FOR THE GRIP

Peruna Is Sometimes Used With Good Results

Mrs. Jane Gift.

Many people take it after they have had the grip. Their convalescence is slow. They have suffered along for a month or two, without any signs of complete recovery. Then they resort to Peruna as a tonic, with splendid results.

Mrs. Jane Gift, R. F. D. 1, Athens, Ohio, whose portrait appears above, writes: "I think I would have been dead long ago if it had not been for Peruna. Six years ago I had a gripe very bad. The doctor came to see me every day, but I gradually grew worse. I told my husband I thought I would surely die if I did not get relief soon."

"One day I picked up the newspaper and accidentally found a testimonial of a woman who had been cured of gripe by Peruna. I told my husband I wanted to try it. He went directly to the drug store and got a bottle of Peruna. I could see the improvement in a very short time and was soon able to do my work. I continued using it until I was entirely cured."

Mr. Victor Patenaude, 225 Madison St., Topeka, Kas., writes: "Twelve years ago I had a severe attack of la gripe and I never really recovered my health and strength, but grew weaker every year, until I was unable to work."

"Two years ago I began using Peruna and it built up my strength so that in a couple of months I was able to go to work again. This winter I had another attack of la gripe, but Peruna soon drove it out of my system. My wife and I consider it a household remedy."

Those who object to liquid medicines can now obtain Peruna Tablets. Ask Your Druggist for Free Peruna Lucky Day Almanac for 1914.

fine new stock of goods will go up afterward.

Mr. Stryck of Cohen and Stryck, Jenkins, was a business visitor in the city.

W. G. Coutts, of Big Stone Gap, Va., interested in the establishment of an electric light plant in Whitesburg has been here for several days. Whitesburg welcomes the enterprise with outstretched arms.

James Cornett, one of Hazard's leading young business men was a Monday Whitesburg business visitor.

Adam Q. Ramey returned from a business trip to Pikeville and other points in the Big Sandy Valley.

Attorney Harmon, of Pikeville has been here in attendance upon the Letcher circuit court.

A noun's the name of anything, as school, or garden, hoop or swing. Adjectives tell the kind of noun, as great, small, pretty, white or brown. Three of these words we often see, as a or an and the. Instead of noun the pronouns stand—John's head his face, my arm, your hand. Verbs tell of something being done, as read, write, spell, sing, jump or run. How things are done the adverb tells, as slowly, quickly, ill or well. They also tell of where or when. A preposition stands before noun, as through a door. Conjunction sentences unite, as kites scratch and puppies bite. The interjections show surprise, as oh, ho pretty, ah! how wise!
